Alternate ELPAC: Answer Choice Cards

Some students communicate using picture cards , yes and no cards, answer choice cards (A,B,C), or a communication device. For these students, test examiners should present the yes and no cards and answer choice cards (A, B, C) that are used with the student in daily instruction.

Some students who communicate using picture cards or a communication device may not yet have standardized yes and no cards or answer choice cards during daily instruction. For these students, test examiners may use the following cards, as printed cards, which may be resized as needed to fit the student's needs, or on a communication device, as appropriate for the individual student. The student may point to, gesture, or gaze to a card to indicate a response to a test question.
